Welcome

Suresh Garimella
President of the University of Arizona
University Distinguished Professor

Welcome to the University of Arizona! It is an honor to host the 2026 National Intercollegiate Wheelchair Basketball Tournament on our beautiful campus. As Arizona's land-grant university, serving as a place for visitors to gather in a vibrant and welcoming environment is a cherished part of our mission. We are truly pleased to be a place where so many athletes and their fans can come together to compete and cheer on the national stage.

At the University of Arizona, our Adaptive Athletics program is a true source of pride. I personally became a fan of our Wheelchair Basketball team during my first week in Tucson, when I saw the players scrimmage as part of the festivities for our annual Red and Blue Game. We have a 50-year tradition of adaptive athletics, and we proudly have the largest and one of the most successful collegiate-based programs in the country. We have seven competitive teams and have sent over 50 athletes to the Paralympics.

Student success is our North Star, and we are committed to seeing all our students thrive—in the classroom and in their chosen sport. All our student-athletes are ambassadors for our university on the national stage. Balancing the demands of top-tier academics and high-level competition requires focus, determination, and resilience. When we cheer for our students during national championships like this one, we are cheering not just for the current game, but for everything they have accomplished to be here. Whether you are here on campus to compete or to support your teams, we are glad to be part of this important tournament with you.

While you are here, we hope you can take the time to explore our campus and the Tucson community. You can find out why Tucson was the first UNESCO City of Gastronomy in the United States, visit the many artistic and cultural offerings we have on campus, or see the unique landscape of the Sonoran Desert.

Best of luck to all our competitors, and welcome to Arizona. Please enjoy your visit to the U of A.

Suresh Garimella
President

Welcome

Peter T. Hughes
Director of Adaptive Athletics
University of Arizona

Hello Friends,

Wheelchair Basketball changed my life. If you are here as a student-athlete, a coach or a fan, there is a good chance that wheelchair basketball has changed your life as well. And if you are new to the game, I'm excited to introduce you to this wild, competitive sport.

It is my privilege to welcome you all to the 2026 Intercollegiate National Championships. Be loud, be rowdy, be respectful to the referees, and cheer on all of these amazing student athletes and their coaches. They have worked very hard to get here!

Special thanks to all our supporters, campus partners, volunteers, and our amazing team at Campus Rec.

See you on the court!

About the NWBA

The National Wheelchair Basketball Association (NWBA) is composed of over 200 basketball teams across nine divisions. The NWBA was founded in 1949 and today consists of men's, women's, intercollegiate, military and junior teams throughout the United States of America and Canada.

MISSION STATEMENT

Lead the sport of wheelchair basketball through increased participation and representation, while fostering a lifelong community of impact for our members and their families.

CORE VALUES

At the National Wheelchair Basketball Association, our values are lived on and off the court of play. This is how we play:

We play with purpose. We selflessly serve others to create lasting positive impact for our community.

We play together. We are champions for inclusion and exemplify collaborative spirit to win as a team.

We play hard. We face challenges head-on and fearlessly push boundaries through a relentless commitment to the pursuit of excellence.

We play the right way. Our decisions and actions are guided by integrity and transparency.

OUR HISTORY

In 1949, the first official National Wheelchair Basketball Tournament (NWBT) was held at the University of Illinois and led to the founding of the National Wheelchair Basketball Association. Wheelchair basketball soon became the No. 1 sport of individuals with disabilities.

In 1970, the first intercollegiate wheelchair basketball game took place between Southwest State University and the University of Illinois. That same year, the first women's collegiate team was formed at the University of Illinois and competed in the men's collegiate division through the early 2000s. The 2010–11 season marked the inaugural season for women's competition at the collegiate level.

Classifications

POINT SYSTEM FOR TEAM BALANCE

Beginning with the 2014-15 season, the NWBA began using the Functional Classification system. Each team may only have up to a total of 14 points, based on players' classifications, on the floor at one time. Classifications range from 1.0 to 4.5.

CLASS 1.0

No active movement of the trunk in the vertical, forward or sideways plane.

CLASS 1.5

Has characteristics of a class 1.0, but able to move partially out into forward plane, able to rotate upper trunk, able to transition from catching to passing or shooter faster than class 1.0, more stable upon contact than class 1.0, and more at ease with ball within cylinder of movement.

CLASS 2.0

Has active use of upper trunk in the vertical and forward planes, able to rotate the upper trunk while upright in both directions, able to hold the ball forward with both arms extended, able to lean the trunk into the forward plane about 45 degrees with control and return to the upright sitting position, able to actively bring upper trunk off the backrest of the chair, and uses hands to return to upright of trunk if no thighs unless knees are significantly higher than the hips.

CLASS 2.5

Has characteristics of class 1.0, but able to lean forward 90 degrees and return to upright sitting position without proper upper extremity assist with knees higher than hips, able to lean forward and rotate the upper trunk simultaneously, able to lean forward and rotate the upper trunk simultaneously, active movement of both the upper and lower trunk but not coordinated or as one unit, lower trunk is not against the backrest at all times, may have a lordosis (curve in low back) to assist in returning to upright, and more stable than a Class 2.0 player but still has loss of stability in trunk.

CLASS 3.0

Displays active use of the upper and lower trunk in the forward and vertical planes: Can lean forward 90 degrees, placing chest on thighs and return to upright with ease without knees significantly higher than hips, can hold the ball with both hands outstretched in front of face without loss of stability, can rotate upper and lower trunk as a unit not supported by wheelchair backrest, rotation of the trunk occurs at the level of the pelvis not the waist, unable to maintain stability leaning sideways, and works within a “cylinder.”

CLASS 3.5

Has characteristics of a class 3.0, but able to move partially out into the sideways plane and return to upright sitting, able to remain upright in hard contact situations forward, able to sit with hips higher than knees, often raises and lowers trunk with each push, able to generate some power in legs with pushing, able to retrieve a ball with two hands on the floor slightly to the side and return to upright position, can lean to the side but remains within his base of support, plays within a wider cylinder than a Class 3.0 player, does not have full volume of action to either side.

CLASS 4.0

Displays the ability to move the trunk maximally in all planes of movement with weakness to one side, has one strong side and one weaker side, able to lean strongly to one side, usually able to lean to weak side slightly, can hold the ball with outstretched hands in front or overhead without loss of stability even in contact situations, no need to counterbalance even in contact situations unless contact is forceful and directed into the weaker side.

CLASS 4.5

Displays the ability to move the trunk maximally in all planes of movement with no significant weakness in any direction, full volume of action in all planes, displays ability to lean to either side during shooting, passing, contesting a shot or trying to intercept a pass.

Playing the Game

RULES AND DEFINITIONS

THE WHEELCHAIR

The maximum height from the floor to the top of the seat rail shall not exceed 21 inches. These chairs are playing chairs approved by the NWBA. Measurements must be taken with the front castor(s) in the forward driving position and the player may be asked to get out of the chair during the measurement.

PLAYERS

In order to be eligible for play in the NWBA, an athlete must be on an active NWBA roster approved by the NWBA and have a lasting lower-extremity disability that consistently interferes with mobility as quantified by standard medical examination and/or testing. Such conditions may include, but are not limited to, paralysis, amputation, radiological evidence of limb shortening and partial to full joint ankylosis or replacement. Findings such as soft tissue contracture, ligamentous instability, edema or disuse atrophy, or symptoms such as pain or numbness without other objective findings shall not be considered a lasting lower-extremity disability.

DRIBBLING

To execute a dribble, a player may: (a) Wheel the chair by two pushes on the wheels (one hand or two hands in either direction) of the chair followed by one or more dribbles of the ball to the floor, after which s/he may start pushing again; (b) The player may not push more than twice, in succession, with one hand or two hands in either direction. Taking more than two pushes in succession constitutes a traveling violation and the ball is awarded to the opposing team out of bounds.

3-POINTERS

For a successful three-point field goal, the large wheels of the chair must be behind the three-point line when the player attempts the shot; however, the front casters may be over the line. There is no relation to the plane regarding the position of the shooter.

OUT OF BOUNDS

The location of a player is determined by where any part of the chair is touching the floor as far as being inbounds or out of bounds or being in the front court or back court. A player is out of bounds when any part of his/her body or wheelchair touches the floor or any object on or outside of a boundary.

FOUL

Personal foul. A player shall not contact an opponent or opponent's wheelchair with his/her hand unless such contact is only with the opponent's hand while it is on the ball and is incidental to an attempt to play the ball. The wheelchair is considered a part of the player. The nature of the game, negligible contact is to the discretion of the officials. Intentional chair contact caused by a player to affect the progress or position of another player is a form of blocking, charging, holding or pushing. Contact caused by the momentum of a chair by a player who had made no visible effort to stop his/her chair while moving in for a goal is a charge. Contact after the ball is dead is unsporting conduct. It is a Class B technical foul for intentionally grabbing an opponent's wheelchair to gain an advantage.

SHOT CLOCK

All divisions will use the 30-second shot clock. (Prep division does not use a shot clock). If such devices are not provided at the site, teams are encouraged to purchase their own visible shot clocks. It is recognized that the expense of these items may be prohibitive for some NWBA teams. If shot clocks are not available for any game, a stopwatch (or similar device) may be used by the 30-second shot clock operator.

CONTACT

The chair is considered a part of the player. General rules of contact in regular basketball (charging, blocking, etc.) apply to wheelchair basketball.

TIME LIMITS

An offensive player cannot remain more than three seconds in the free-throw lane while the player's team is in possession of the ball.

LOSS OF THE BALL

If a player in possession of the ball makes any physical contact with the floor or tilts the chair so far backward that the anti-tip (safety) casters touch the floor, it is a violation, and the ball is awarded to the other team.

Playing the Game

PHYSICAL ADVANTAGE FOUL

Because of the varying causes and degrees of disability among participants, a basic rule of keeping firmly seated in the wheelchair at all times and not using a functional leg or leg stump for physical advantage over an opponent is strictly enforced. An infraction of this rule (rebound, jump ball, etc.) constitutes a physical advantage foul. It is so recorded in the official scorebook. Three such fouls disqualify a player from the game. Two free throws are awarded and the ball is given to the opposing team out of bounds.

FALLING

If a player falls out of the chair during play, the officials will immediately suspend play if there is any chance of danger to the fallen player. If not, the officials will withhold their whistles until the particular play in progress has been completed. If a player falls out of the chair to gain possession of the ball or by falling keeps opponents from gaining possession of the ball, the ball is awarded to the opposing team.

TEAM BALANCE

At no time in a game shall a team have players with total points greater than 14 value points on the floor at the same time.

CONTROL AND ENFORCEMENT

The official scorer is responsible for seeing that personnel on the floor for either team at any time does not exceed 14 points. (This only has to be checked at the start of each half and at the time of substitutions.) If, at any time during the game, it is identified that a team exceeds the player point limit, a technical is called against the team in violation, which is handled as all other technical fouls, with a correction to the lineup being made at that time.
